County sheriff reports:

Judge aiding in Hancock jail prisoner reduction

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A Circuit Court judge is assisting the Hancock County Sheriff's Department in reducing overcrowded conditions at the Hancock Jail in Bay St. Louis.

Ronald A. Peterson, county sheriff, Friday reported J. Ruble Griffin, Place Two Circuit Court Judge for Hancock and most of Harrison County, is wedging in arraignment hearings for Hancock prisoners during his Harrison court term in Gulfport.

The reason for Griffin's action is because the present Hancock Circuit Court term as prescribed by state law is not long enough to hear all criminal cases, even with the one-week extension added to the January term, Peterson noted.

Legislators are attempting to change the law to extend county court terms during the current session, the sheriff cited.

Peterson said the obsolete 12-15 prisoner jail is now housing about 34 and before Griffin's Friday action the prison population had risen to 40.

Regarding the reason for the overcrowded conditions at the facility built in 1929, Peterson stated, "I think it's a combination of the county's population growth, the poor economy has something to do with it and in general, law enforcement agencies are doing a better job of apprehending suspects."

The sheriff's department is facing one lawsuit filed by a prisoner stemming from poor jail conditions and Peterson fears others will follow.

In addition, in recent years several inmates have been injured in jail fires and many have escaped, injuring sheriff's department personnel in the process.

"Local officials are going to have to make up their minds to build a new jail facility," he stated.

Peterson has repeatedly warned officials of the county's vulnerability to a lawsuit because of the overcrowded and run-down condition of the jail.

"If anything, I expect the jail population will increase," he stated.

The sheriff said even if prisoners being held awaiting transfer to Parchman State Penitentiary were moved out of the jail, the county facility would still be overcrowded.

Out of the some 34 prisoners, 15 are awaiting transfer to Parchman and six sentenced to the pen must be held locally due to appeals, he reported.

Peterson said the jail population in the past would usually rise after a Circuit Court term and then decrease to an acceptable level, but now the number of prisoners is remaining high.

The sheriff said Friday morning Griffin sentenced three Hancock inmates to Parchman.

Peterson said the three slated to be transferred to Parchman include:

—Robert Corkin, 21, of Route 2, Box 378-E, Bay St. Louis, who was sentenced to two years for a probation violation. The sheriff said Corkin during the recent Krewe of Nereids parade in Waveland allegedly struck a Gulfport police officer;

—Thomas Shaw, 25, of 210 Fifth Ave. in Piquette who was sentenced to three years for a probation violation, Peterson reported. Shaw allegedly wrote a $4,000 bad check;

—Stefen St. Clair, 22, of 306-A Bouslog St. in Bay St. Louis who was sentenced to five years for a probation violation. The sheriff said St. Clair allegedly assaulted a Long Beach police officer and was charged with driving under the influence, and interfering with and assaulting a police officer.

In addition, the sheriff said Griffin sentenced Patricia Kingston Sutherland, 43, of Fayette, Ala. for two counts of prescription forgery.

Peterson reported she received five years for each count concurrently, but the sentence was suspended in lieu of three years probation and payment of attorney and court fees amounting to about $450.

"Judge Griffin has helped greatly in getting jailed people sentenced. The court term just isn't long enough," he stated.

Unexplained rumble startles residents

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Residents of Hancock County and the Mississippi Gulf Coast at about 12:05 p.m. Saturday were startled by a fairly loud and yet unexplained rumble which lasted just few seconds.

Local law enforcement agencies and The Sea Coast Echo received several inquiries about the unusual sound.

Ronald A. Peterson, Hancock sheriff, Saturday afternoon said no one knows what caused the rumble, but speculated from radio news reports the sound was the result of either a mild earthquake or sonic boom.

Based on Saturday inquiries, no rocket or ammunition testing was conducted. National Space Technology Laboratories, no oil and gas exploration seismic testing was underway in the Mississippi Sound according to the State Bureau of Marine Resources and Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi had no supersonic jet aircraft flying (which could create a sonic boom) when the rumble occurred.

Residents trying to stop power company station

By BREARD SNELLINGS
Property owners in the area of Turner Street and Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis have come up with a petition listing 68 names of people in the area who are protesting the building of a high voltage substation by Mississippi Power Company.

The petition, which does not list the addresses of the 68 people who signed, was sent to Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett, who in turn presented it to the Bay St. Louis City Council last Tuesday night.

City Attorney Joseph Gex was ordered by the council to look into the matter.

The petition states that "we the following property owners request the city administration and the city planning and zoning commission to investigate the purported installation of a high voltage power substation on Turner Road (sic) in Bay St. Louis.

"We bitterly object to this type of industrial development being allowed in the center of a residential area. Whereby such installation could impose a danger to curious youngsters; possibly cause interference with radio and TV reception, and offer nothing positive to a residential neighborhood."

"We further request that a cease and desist order be issued immediately."

The area in question is a parcel of vacant land, 590 feet by 308 feet, bordered by Turner Street on the east, Bouslog Street on the west, Gladstone Street on the north, and Sixth Street on the south, according to Donald Dana, manager of public information for Mississippi Power Company.

A check by The Sea Coast Echo found that three of four residents questioned from the surrounding area, didn't know about a petition being circulated, but

Bayou Cadet Marina loans discussed at port meeting

By BREARD SNELLINGS
Losses to marine interests at Bayou Cadet in the freak flooding Jan. 20 prompted the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission to look again at the possibility of a new commercial-recreational marina on the bayou.

A marina for both commercial and pleasure boats at Bayou Cadet had been a main topic of discussion several months back, but prohibitive costs forced the commission to table the idea.

But following the storm of Jan. 20, which destroyed many of the boats at the small, generally accepted to be inadequate, Bayou Cadet docking facilities, the topic of a marina at the site again came up again at a Thursday commission meeting.

Burke and Associates engineering firm of Baton Rouge still had a Bayou Cadet marina plan calling for 55 slips for commercial and pleasure boats.

The commission generally agreed a large marina would cost too much money to build and would not really be needed in that area, but passed a resolution to proceed with a pre-application for job-oriented funding on an 80-20 ratio from the Economic Development Administration, with size of the facility to be determined later.

The 80-20 funding means the county would pay 80 percent of the cost, and EDA the other 20 percent.

"It was my understanding the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers would be the ones to do the necessary dredge and fill work in and around the channel and harbor if plans for a marina go through," explained James DeBlanc, executive director of the commission.

DeBlanc then brought out that the Hancock County Board of Supervisors had sent a committee to meet with U.S. Congressman Trent Lott of Mississippi's Fifth Congressional District and were told there was a good chance of getting the EDA funding for developing Bayou Cadet.

DeBlanc also brought out that projected estimates show it would cost the Corps of Engineers one million dollars to dredge the area for a large marina, and he didn't know if such a Corps project could obtain approval or if EDA could handle some of the funding.

In other business, the board was presented with its annual audit for the 1981-82 fiscal year by Bob Parker of Moore and Powell Certified Public Accountants of Bay St. Louis.

The total assets of the commission amounted to $105,292 for special revenues, $1,256,067 for debt service and $2,542,521 for capital projects under governmental funding.

Total assets also included $6,636,125 for enterprises under proprietary funding and under account groups, a total of $4,639,744 for general fixed assets and $2,997,000 for general long-term debts.

Total liabilities included, under governmental fund types, $27,478 for special revenues, $1,381 for debt services and $142,528 for capital projects.

Also, $2,126,194 for enterprises under proprietary fund types, and nothing for general fixed assets and $1,997,000 under general long-term debts under account groups.

The total liabilities and fund equity figures read as follows: under governmental fund types, $105,292 for special

MAIN STREET'S FINAL TOUCH—Measuring and marking Main Street in Bay St. Louis Saturday afternoon just before beginning striping work on the recently widened thoroughfare are employees of Coastal Striping Co. of Pascagoula. The street is closed for the work, but a company spokesman said the striping should be completed Sunday and Main should be re-opened to traffic Monday morning. The spokesman added the street is being marked with a long-lasting plastic striping material. The Main project was completed one month earlier than engineers expected. ### Alleged escapee jailed

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A Bay St. Louis man who escaped twice from police recently was recaptured Thursday and is in Hancock County Jail awaiting City and Circuit Court hearings on multiple charges.

Investigator Murray Ladner of the Bay Police Department Friday confirmed Michael D. Stringer, 21, of Route 2, Box 64, Bay St. Louis is in jail in lieu of $115,000 bond.

Stringer allegedly escaped from the Bay Police Department recently while being booked on two forgery charges.

Also in a previous arrest for apparent possession of a controlled substance and paraphernalia, Stringer escaped from police but was recaptured.

Bay Police assisted by Hancock County Sheriff's Department deputies apprehended Stringer Thursday night at a Shoreline Park mobile home, Ladner reported.

Stringer was indicted during a recent

Smoking train brakes prompt fire report

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

An apparent train boxcar fire Friday night in southern Hancock County turned out to be smoking brakes on a Seaboard System Railroad car.

Chief Don McIntyre of the Waveland Fire Department Saturday morning said the Bay St. Louis Fire Department received a telephone report of a train boxcar on fire moving westward.

The train stopped near the Ansley Community because the conductor discovered a door open on a piggyback container, the chief reported.

BaySide and Clermont Harbor Volunteer Fire Department personnel then informed the train engineer of the smoking car which led to the discovery and correction of the hot smoking brakes, McIntyre explained.

Koch free on bond, awaiting grand jury

By BREARD SNELLINGS

James D. Koch has been released from jail on a $25,000 bond reduced from $100,000.

Koch was an auxiliary police officer with the Bay St. Louis Police Department at the time he was accused of the shooting murder of Delores B. Manning of Bay St. Louis on the evening of Feb. 9.

Koch, who was off-duty at the time, originally was jailed under $100,000 bond, and had been kept at "an undisclosed jail site" for his own protection.

But the bond was lowered from $100,000 to $25,000 last Tuesday during a hearing before Circuit Court Judge J. Ruble Griffin in Gulfport, and Koch was then released after posting bond.

Koch was to appear before District 5 Justice Court John Chev's last Wednesday, but waived his right to a hearing. The charges against Koch will be presented to the next Hancock County Grand Jury, according to Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Alvin Ladner.

Koch, 49, of Bancroft Street in Shoreline Park subdivision, is accused of shooting Ms. Manning, 50, in the face with his 357 Magnum service revolver during an argument at 1424 Home on Mississippi Street in Shoreline Park.

The Manning woman was found in her bed with a .25 caliber pistol in her hand, when investigators Ladner, Delbert Seay and Sheriff Ronald Peterson arrived on the scene, according to Peterson.

Peterson said there was some question as to whether the gun was in her hand at the time of the murder.

If the January Grand Jury, which is recessed, is not recalled during the April term of Hancock County Circuit Court, then the earliest Koch's case would be presented would be July, when the next Grand Jury is scheduled to be selected.

In other court action, District 5 Justice Court Judge John Chev's conducted preliminary hearings on two arson cases Wednesday night.

Danny Perrot, who is charged with arson in connection with a recent fire at 208 Carroll Ave., Apt. D in Bay St. Louis, was represented by Attorney David Nacaise who asked for and received a continuance until March 23.

Perrot is out on a $10,000 property bond. Larry Otis Williams, who is charged with arson at a home on Third Street in Shoreline Park, Rt. 3, Box 228, owned by Jerry Pusatini, told the court he didn't have an attorney yet, and his case also was continued to March 23.

Williams is still in Hancock County Jail.

Holzweissig wins governor's contest

Art Holzweissig, from the Southern Mississippi Area, won the Annual Area Governor's Speech Contest at the Winter Conference of District 29, of Toastmasters International, held in Fort Walton Beach, Fla. Feb. 5.

Toastmaster Holzweissig's speech gave some insights to the duties and expectations of an Area Governor.

He is a member of the Speakeasy Club at the National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL), and recently retired from the Naval Oceanographic Office. Currently, he is a substitute teacher at the Long Beach Junior and Senior High Schools, and resides in Long Beach.

Toastmaster Martha Cummings, also of the Speakeasy Club of NSTL was the winner of District 29 Annual Parliamentary Procedures Contest. She had previously won the club and the Southern Mississippi Area contests in Gulfport in January. Mrs. Cummings is a computer programmer/analyst with the Naval Oceanographic Office at NSTL, and resides in Pass Christian.

Toastmaster Dorothy McMillan, a past president of the Speakeasy Club of NSTL, and currently the Assistant Area Governor for Education in the Southern Mississippi Area, was nominated for the District Toastmaster of the Year, after being selected as the Speakeasy Club and the area Toastmaster of the Year last month in Gulfport.

Mrs. McMillan is an accountant with the Commander, Naval Oceanography Command, NSTL, and resides in Pass Christian.

Hancock jobless rate reaches five-year high

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock County is experiencing the highest unemployment rate in more than five years.

Current Mississippi Employment Service figures show Hancock with a 10.9 percent jobless figure for January which represents 1,030 unemployed civilian workers.

Ian Shearer, labor market analyst with the employment service's Gulfport office, Friday afternoon said the last time the county's jobless rate was at or exceeded the current figure was Dec. 1977 when 12.2 percent was recorded.

The high unemployment rate at that time was caused by layoffs at the National Space Technology Laboratories when the Saturn booster rocket testing program ended, Shearer reported.

In Nov. 1977 the unemployment rate was 12.8 percent, he added. The analyst had no explanation for the current high rate.

Hancock's unemployment rate increased steadily in the second half of 1982 and by December reached 10.6 percent based on employment service reports.

The county's present civilian labor force is listed at 9,460.

Statewide unemployment is at 12.2 percent based on current Mississippi Employment Security Commission figures for January.

O.H. Simmons, commission executive director in Jackson, reports the state figure represents a four-tenths of a percentage point increase from the previous month.

The state jobless rate last year was 10.9 percent, he adds.

The current statewide rate is higher than the national 11.4 percent figure, Simmons notes.

Commission figures indicate 125,700 are unemployed out of a state civilian labor force of 1,031,900, with unemployment insurance claims totalling $39,914 for the month.

"Some 69 of the state's 82 counties have unemployment rates of 10 percent or higher. Of that number, eight counties have jobless rates in excess of 20 percent," Simmons states.

Counties with the highest unemployment rates are Sharkey with 25.2 percent, Tunica with 24, Winston with 22.6, Montgomery with 21.9, Nodaway with 21.5, Alcorn with 20.7, Stone with 20.6, and Attala with 20.5.

The lowest county jobless rates are found in Issaquena with 5.9 percent, Rankin with 6.6, Oktibbeha with 6.8, and Lafayette with 6.9.

Some 53 counties show increasing unemployment rates from December to January, 37 report decreases and two remain the same.

Shoppers lunch set

March 8 has been set for the next Shoppers Lunch at the Peppermill Restaurant.

This day will feature an arts and crafts presentation. Special guests will include Mr. Wiley Churchill, Georgia Gardner and Sharon Milton.

Churchill, a former Hancock County resident, now resides in Pensacola, Fla., but his paintings are currently displayed locally. The majority of his work depicts scenes painted from his memories of the Bay area. Also included in his collection are scenes of New Orleans, Civil War scenes, and his famous locomotive paintings.

Mrs. Georgia Gardner, native of California now residing in Waveland, stole everyone's heart at the last shoppers lunch with her fabulous ceramic display. Her collection of life-like animals are alone worth seeing, but she will be bringing in several other ceramics, including Easter displays. Mrs. Gardner is a teacher of ceramics and a waitress at the Peppermill Restaurant. She will be explaining her unique technique of ceramics, and answering questions.

A relative newcomer to the area, Sharon Milton, will bring her display of silk flower arrangements to show. She will also discuss techniques, and methods of do-it-yourself arrangements.

The luncheon prepared for the day will include a choice of quiche and fruit plate, or another chicken plate, and will be $4.50 per person. Reservations are appreciated.

and may be made by phoning 467-9130. Lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., with the displays shown at the same time.

Marketing specialist offers shopping tips

By ANN O. RUMMING
Marketing Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Before dashing out to the supermarket, it's important to do your "homework." Take the time to review newspaper ads, plan meals and make a shopping list. By doing so, you are more likely to find the best buys, avoid impulse purchases and eliminate extra trips for items forgotten.

Be a smart shopper and get more for your money by deciding in advance what foods to serve at mealtime and for snacks. As you plan your menus, follow these important steps:

- Check newspaper ads for special sales.
- Plan your meals around these items can help to save you money. Buy only what you can use and compare prices with those found in other ads.
- Clip coupons.
- They can save money if the item is one you would normally buy and if it's less expensive than similar brands.
- Be sure that each day's menu includes foods from each of the basic food groups.
- Take advantage of seasonal specials.
- Foods are less expensive when in great supply.
- Consider food preferences.
- When you serve popular foods you increase eating pleasure plus the value of the food. Invite family members to give you their special requests.
- Think about appetite appeal.
- Plan meals with foods of contrasting colors, textures, flavors, sizes and shapes.
- Keep meals interesting.
- Try new recipes occasionally to expand your repertoire.
- Plan the use of leftovers.
- They can be used in casserole dishes and for snacks and lunch boxes.

If there is food waste in your household, ask yourself why. Are you buying food in the right quantities? Is food refused or left on the plate? Are servings too large? Is the food cooked properly? Encourage family involvement in menu planning and meal preparation so you will have help in making decisions that affect the eating pleasure of all.

One of the best ways to control spending and avoid impulse buying is to make a list of the items needed. Having already planned your menus, the rest is easy. Some helpful hints for making a shopping list follow:

- Keep an ongoing list and jot down items as your supply gets low.
- Look over the recipes you plan to use. Be sure you have the necessary ingredients.
- Check the cupboards, the refrigerator and the freezer for foods on hand.

Are there staple items such as flour, sugar, coffee, salt or rice that should be added to the list?

- Stock up on sale items used regularly, of storage space permits.
- Organize your list according to the store layout to save time and steps. If you find that you are continually exceeding your food spending plan, evaluate your menus and shopping list for ways to cut costs. Serving low-cost main dishes is one of the best ways to economize.

Become aware of substitute foods which are nutritious but cost less. If entertaining is taking an excess amount of your grocery money, you need not become less sociable, but simplify the foods you serve. Try underlining the items on your shopping list that are basic to the family diet and buy these foods first and include others as your food spending plan permits.

CHILDREN'S DENTAL HEALTH MONTH—UMC dental hygiene students are participating in special projects during February, National Children's Dental Health Month. Students plan visits to Jackson area public schools to teach good dental health habits. They made television appearances on "Our

Cooking up a storm

By Katy McGuire Caire

Turkey tetrazzini, named in honor of that famed opera singer, Madame Tetrazzini, who long graced the San Francisco area, as well as other areas, with her arias, is not only a tasty "company" dish, but also a good budget-stretcher any day of the week.

And, with all the turkey parts available at the local markets, you don't have to wait until you cook a whole turkey, as in earlier days, to enjoy this dish. And of course, if you haven't turkey on hand, just substitute a couple of cups of cooked chicken, ham, tuna, or even shrimp, pardon the budget!

Here's a version which uses canned evaporated milk for an extra creamy rich taste.

TURKEY TETRAZZINI

8 oz. thin spaghetti, broken in two-inch pieces;
4 Tbsp. butter or margarine
¼ cup sliced mushrooms (or small can, drained)
3 (or more) Tbsp. chopped onion

1 tall can evaporated milk
1 can chicken soup
2 cups cooked, cubed turkey
¼ cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Dash cayenne pepper, salt optional
1 or 2 Tbsp. chopped pimiento

Cook the spaghetti in a quart and a half of boiling salted water with a bit of oil in the pot to keep it from sticking. Cook it "al dente" or just tender to the teeth, or... as our family cook used to do, toss a strand at the wall above the stove — if it sticks it's ready! Drain. Drain the mushrooms, reserving any liquid. Sauté the onions in the butter, adding seasonings as you go, whatever suits you, such as thyme, oregano, marjoram, dashes of hot sauce.

Add the mushroom liquid, along with the seasonings, then add the soup, stirring until smooth. Gradually add the milk, stirring all the time, until smooth and thick. In a buttered casserole, mix the spaghetti and turkey. Pour the sauce over, mixing well together. Top with cheese and bake in a 350° oven for half an hour or a bit more, till lightly browned. (Six to eight servings.)

Sometimes I first put a layer of broccoli, cooked, in the casserole. At other times, I mix chopped spinach, cooked and well drained, into the pasta mixture. And, if I'm using tuna, I even add tiny green peas.

Quotables by CUEVAS

Trees and flowers are blooming all over the area which means warmer weather is not too far away. As in previous years, the flowering pear trees on the grounds of Coast Electric in Bay St. Louis are so beautiful.

We have noted several red bud trees, tulips and numerous lillies blooming around our area.

Many folks have begun to get their ground ready for vegetable gardens. One of the big problems, of course is the ground being so wet.

Persons who are making a garden for the first time in need of some professional help may want to contact the county agent on Necaise Avenue in Bay St. Louis. The county agent has numerous pamphlets with instructions on planting.

Many of the places selling gardening items are also helpful in giving suggestions on proper planting.

We hope everyone will have a very good vegetable garden this year.

The marking of parking spaces for the sheriff's vehicles at the Hancock County Courthouse this week is something needed for a long time.

It should help deputies in having a place to park the patrol vehicles.

While on the subject of parking, we still note crowded conditions in the parking lot at Hancock General Hospital.

Many folks have been sick in recent weeks and it is hard to find a place to park when visiting them at the hospital.

Several times we have heard of plans on making additional parking spaces at HGH and we hope enough will be soon created.

It will be less than two weeks when we will again have a parade in Waveland.

The Waveland Civic Association's Annual St. Patrick's Day parade is scheduled for Sat. March 12.

We have been told Pete Fountain and his Half Fast Marchers are scheduled for another appearance and this should add to the parade.

Anyone interested in entering a float, or as maskers can contact Gilbert Brechtel at 467-1779 or Dave Garcia 467-6463.

Just think there will be a lot of green in Waveland.

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT

THE PRESIDENT'S CHALLENGE

President Reagan has presented a new and important challenge to the Congress. In his State of the Union address, the President called on Congress to embrace a new spirit of bipartisan cooperation as we tackle the serious problems of Social Security, unemployment, and unacceptable budget deficits.

It is time to put aside partisan bickering. To restore our economy to good health, we must have Democrats and Republicans cooperating and working together to solve the problems that face us all.

The Congress can demonstrate a commitment to statesmanship by first addressing in a serious-minded way the problems of our Social Security System. I think the system can be made solvent by reforming some of the tax requirements and by making other adjustments, without cutting benefits. I believe there is a consensus here in the Congress to make changes this year that will guarantee the solvency of the Social Security program for years to come.

I was especially encouraged to hear a new sensitivity to the problems of the unemployed from the President. I intend to support his proposal to extend compensation benefits to the unemployed.

Another way we can help the country's unemployment problem is to accelerate job training programs for displaced workers. These are people who have training, but are skilled in an area that is no longer needed in our fast-changing technological society.

Of course, the only true way we are going to provide more jobs is to revive economic growth. I think we've seen signs of improvement with housing starts up, with interest rates down, and with reductions in the rate of inflation.

President Reagan also noted these encouraging signs during his State of the Union address, and I think he put the situation in perspective when he added, "we have a long way to go."

We must conquer the federal deficits. This will not be easy. It is always difficult to trim programs that are popular. But we must closely scrutinize the budgets of all government programs, including defense to find ways to eliminate wasteful and ineffective spending.

I have always favored a strong and adequate defense system. As we begin the 98th Congress, I'm pleased to be working with the President on the Defense appropriations subcommittee. This will give me an opportunity, first hand, to examine how our tax dollars are being spent on defense.

Just as he indicated a sensitivity to the problem of the needy, I think the President also signaled a new help. With federal funding, we can work with the Congress in a cooperative way to set appropriate levels of spending for the various federal programs.

We must be fair. We must see to it that those Americans who need help get it. But we also have an obligation to search out fraud and waste and eliminate it.

Previously, the block grant program was the responsibility of the Area HUD Office. The state decided last May, however, to take advantage of recent legislative changes to Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 which provides states with the option to administer the program.

Under the fiscal 1982 program, funds were divided into three categories: $11.3 million for HUD multi-year projects; $2.1 million for special opportunities; and more than $19 million for regional entitlements and statewide competition.

Of the funds available, current figures indicate that the state has obligated $11.8 million for 15 HUD multi-year projects; approximately $500,000 for special opportunities; and approximately $16 million for regional entitlements and competition.

Approximately $4.5 million in 1982 funds remains for use in special opportunities and regional entitlement programs.

During fiscal 1982, Federal-State Programs received 237 CDBG applications requesting more than $75 million. However, the state had only $19 million, approximately 25 percent of the amount requested, available for funding under the competitive process.

Of the 237 applications, the state received 189 applications totaling more than $53 million for public facilities and services, 26 applications totaling more than $12 million for economic development and 22 applications totaling more than $19 million for housing activities.

The state has announced 56 recipients under the competitive process, 33 of which have a population below 3,000. Thirty-seven of these recipients will be receiving CDBG funds for the first time. Average grant awards in the three target areas include public facilities, $297,000; economic development, $356,000; and housing, $386,000.

A total of $1.9 million allocated to communities under the competitive process was loaned to area industries for special assistance. The loans will be repaid to the participating communities and used again for other area development activities.

Grant awards made under the 1982 program helped create or save 2,048 jobs in Mississippi.

In addition, the CDBG awards generated an additional $24.9 million in the state as some communities applied other funds to accomplish their projects.

In closing out its 1982 program, the state has also announced guidelines for the 1983 CDBG program.

Under the new procedures, a mailout containing a summary of the 1983 program, proposed program changes and requests for suggestions is scheduled to be sent to each local government in Mississippi by mid-February.

A public hearing to gain input from communities concerning the administration of the program is slated to be held in Jackson February 25. Information gathered at the meeting will be considered by the governor's office and presented to a CDBG task force for its comments March 7.

The final program guidelines and application packages are scheduled to be mailed to each local government by March 21.

One or more workshops to inform local officials about the application process of the 1983 program would then be held during the week of April 4.

Finally, CDBG applications will be due to the state until May 1 with announcements scheduled for August 1.

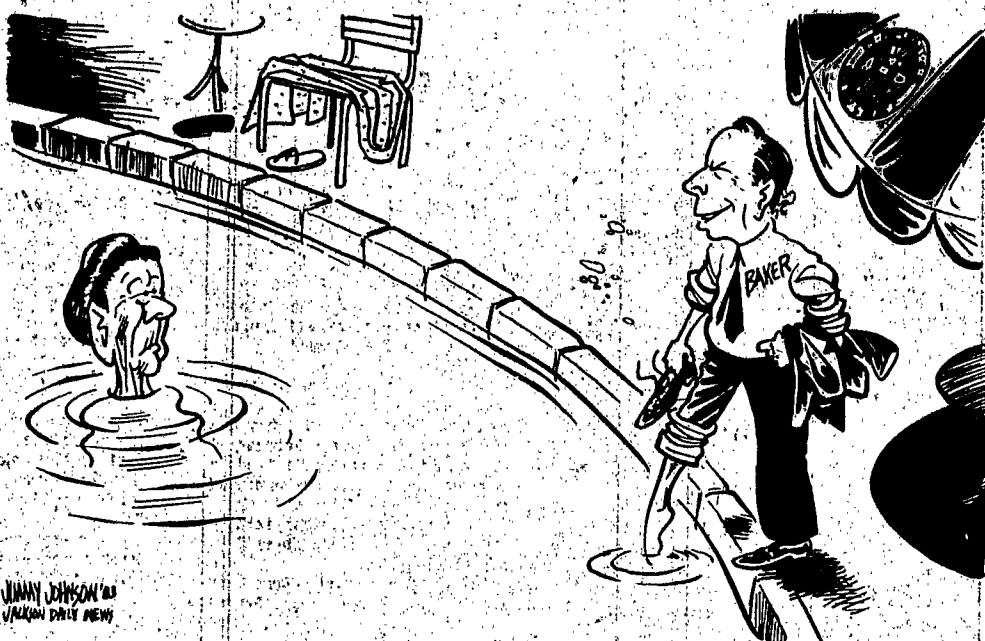

Less money will be available to local governments in Mississippi for community development activities in 1983 under the program.

HUD officials announced a reduced funding level in January of $30.3 million compared to $33.9 million in 1982, a decrease of $3.6 million. Funding for the 1983 program was based on information from the 1980 census showing a shift in poverty factors in Mississippi. Census figures from 1970 were used to determine funding for the 1982 program.

Of the 1983 allocation, $8.7 million has been obligated for HUD multi-year projects, leaving $23.6 million for statewide competition and administration.

The 11 multi-year projects are: Amory, $211,000; Bay Springs, $714,000; Bay St. Louis, $533,000; Itta Bena, $560,000; Metcalfe, $892,000; Newton, $495,000; Pass Christian, $500,000; Pike County, $358,000; Vicksburg, $693,000; Water Valley, $1,126,000; and West Point, $620,000.

Persons desiring additional information concerning the 1983 CDBG program or a list of the 1982 recipients may write the Department of Planning and Policy, 1304 Walter Sillers Building, Jackson 39202 or call 359-3065.

"OOOO... NICE!"

News from the Governor

State tax assistance is being offered by the Governor's Service Line.

This service, provided in cooperation with the State Tax Commission, includes providing tax forms, answering basic state questions and referring callers to volunteer tax preparation services.

Assistance may be obtained by dialing the toll-free number, 1-800-222-7622, or the Jackson number, 961-4442.

Last year the Service Line served more than 700 Mississippians in the tax assistance program according to Linda Ross Aldy, director of Program Information.

"Service Line personnel do their best to answer every question," Mrs. Aldy said. "But for questions we cannot answer immediately, we consult with the Tax Commission and call the individual back."

"Tax assistance," she said, "is another step in our continuing efforts to improve our services and make them as relevant as possible to the needs of Mississippians. We recognize that filing tax returns can be very confusing, and we're trying to take the confusion away."

BLOCK GRANT

Approximately $29 million of the state's $33.9 million allotment has been awarded to more than 70 Mississippi communities for area improvements under the 1982 Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program.

The CDBG program, which is administered by the Governor's Office of Federal State Programs, provides grants to local governments for community development activities in areas having a population of 50,000 or less. Applications are directed toward public facilities, economic development or housing or a combination of two or three of these targets.

Previously, the block grant program was the responsibility of the Area HUD Office. The state decided last May, however, to take advantage of recent legislative changes to Title 1 of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 which provides states with the option to administer the program.

SENIOR PLAY—"The Sky's The Limit" by Margery Burns will be presented by the Bay High Senior Class of '83 at Bay Junior High Friday at 8 p.m. featuring Joe Wusmack, left, Karen Ladner, center, and Gina Seymour. The play is a comedy dealing with a typical American family in the early 60's. Other cast members include Derek Wright, Mike Proulx, Dana Favre, Roger Burge, Jami Romine, Russell Smith, Jul Lee Pursley, Freddie Wilkerson, Theresa Ladner, and Lisa Peterson. Director is Anita C. Jacobs and student director is Shelly Stant.

Hancock Grand Jury term for burglary of a dwelling, the investigator said. A $100,000 bond was set based on the Circuit Court charge, Ladner noted. In addition, Stringer is also held in lieu of $15,000 bond based on two counts of forgery and escape from custody, the investigator added.

Assisting the investigator in the arrest were Bay Patrolman Tom Pustay and Assistant Chief Alan Ladner of the Police Department Junior Auxiliary; and sheriff's department Deputies Floyd Fricke, Nathan Hode Jr., Orelia Sams and Stanley Hamilton.

revenues, $1,256,087 for debt services and $2,542,521 for capital projects.

The total continued as being $6,836,125 for enterprises under proprietary fund types; and under account groups, $4,839,744 in general fixed assets, and $2,597,000 in general long-term debts.

In other business, the commission decided to charge a dock fee of $150 per day to Curtis Johnson, president of Mississippi Pumping Service, for docking and unloading his barges at Port Blenville.

Mississippi Pumping Service unloads, by pneumatic pump, the drilling mud taken from the area of the offshore oil rigs, and transfers it to tanker trucks. The unloading is being handled by L.J. Breaux, Inc., which is responsible for cleaning up any spills, according to the commission.

Also, a resolution was passed authorizing soil borings at Port Blenville to a depth of 25 feet by various companies, in order to receive bids for possible finger channel construction.

Waveland Players developing '83 season schedule

At least four plays, including the traditional summer variety show, and a second annual junior members play, are scheduled by the Waveland Players. "Our play-reading committee is now selecting plays for consideration of the Board," said the group's newly-elected president, Terry Simpson. "If our patrons have ideas for a play they would like to see us do, we would welcome their suggestions," Simpson said. "Other officers chosen at a recent general meeting are Ed Ling, vice president; Janet Almie, Secretary; and Bunk Gardner, Treasurer.

Patient load record set at HGH in January

By ELLIS CUEVAS
 Hancock General Hospital had an occupancy average of 40 patients per day for the month of January. A report given to the trustees by Fgl Langston, administrator.

Langston on Tuesday said, "This was the highest census for a month in the 30 months I have been here. At 2 a.m. this morning we had 54 patients."

HGH is certified for 56 beds. The trustees acted on a recommendation made by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors when they met with them at a luncheon on February 14 in having a financial feasibility study on whether a new structure is needed and how it would be financed.

The trustees set aside plans of obtaining an option on a building site until the study is completed.

The New Orleans firm of Ernest and Whitney are to do the study for not more than $10,000.

According to minutes of the two groups meeting, the supervisors were, "concerned over other county priorities", and suggested that the trustees "evaluate the financial feasibility of a new hospital before acquiring land for a new hospital."

Mike Dossett, HGH comptroller in his report to the trustees explained how the TEFRA (Tax Equity Federal Reinvestment Act), will effect the hospital with Medicare patients.

Craig Saterlee, regional vice president for HCA told the trustees, "We don't lose money, but we don't make money on Medicare patients under TEFRA."

It was explained that Medicare patients represents about half of the admissions to HGH and the same problem is faced by all hospitals.

objected to a high voltage substation being built in the neighborhood, primarily because it is a residential area.

But John Watzke, of 1140 Old Spanish Trail, said he signed the petition "mainly because the children in the area, like all children, are curious, and no fence can keep a curious child out for long, and the voltage of 115,000 watts was enough to kill anybody that came in contact with it."

Mrs. Ethel Williams, of 210 Turner St., hadn't seen the petition, but said "this is a residential area. I'm opposed to any kind of structure that's not a residence in this area."

According to Dana, "Mississippi Power Company owns the whole block there, and we're planning to build a 115,000 volt substation on the property, which will be 175 feet by 180 feet and be in the center of the lot."

"The substation will be surrounded by a fence, seven or eight feet high with an additional one foot of three strands of barbed wire," said Dana, "plus, there is plenty of buffer zone on the 591 by 306 foot lot. The substation will be in the center of that lot." Dana said the power company just recently began preliminary work at the site, and that the substation should be built and ready for use "sometime in late summer or early fall."

"We will follow all safety precautions prescribed by federal guidelines, and there will be warning signs telling people to stay away."

"Mississippi Power purchased the property in 1973, and in early 1982, the Public Service Commission issued a certificate of convenience and necessity, approving construction of a substation at that site."

"We plan to leave in as many trees as possible, and do whatever aesthetic landscaping will be necessary," said Dana.

"This is not a large substation, just a moderate sized one, and there will be no real tall or obtrusive fixtures," he added. "To the extent possible, it will blend in to the area."

Dana said anyone wishing information on a more local level could call Ben Benvenuti, manager of the Bay-Waveland office of Mississippi Power Company.

NORDA specialists develop wave measuring system

Two electronic instrument specialists at the Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity (NORDA) have developed a unique system for measuring and analyzing ocean surface waves.

The two, electronics engineer Ron Miles of Slidell, La., and electronics technician Bob Brown of Picayune, devised the new system in response to a specific request from Dr. Ming-Yang Su of NORDA's Physical Oceanography Branch, who has been investigating wind-wave interactions for several years.

What the two men came up with is a complex Air/Sea Interaction Measurement System (ASIMS) which can simultaneously accept inputs from 24 capacitance wave gauges and up to 15 meteorological and/or oceanographic sensors (wind speed and direction, currents, air and water temperature, barometric pressure, etc.).

All data in the ASIMS are digitized to 12-bit accuracy and the data rates for waves are selectable (10, 20 or 40 samples per second) for each sensor.

Other data are nominally sampled once per second. All data acquired are stored in engineering units on magnetic tape and/or flexible disc for subsequent analysis and correlation.

Of the 2,566 cases investigated, 1,270 were in the food stamp program and 1,296

These numbers represent an increase of 120 criminal prosecutions initiated over fiscal year 1980-1981.

The Fraud Investigations Unit, of the Department of Welfare, is responsible for conducting investigations of fraud in welfare programs. The unit has access to records and information from government and private sources to verify client information. After an investigation, the department's investigators forward the information about possible criminal violations to the county prosecutor.

"The investigations and convictions are a result of continuing efforts by the state and county offices of the Department of Public Welfare to detect and eliminate fraud in welfare programs," said Joe Gentile, Director of the Fraud Investigations Unit.

Persons convicted of welfare fraud face either a misdemeanor charge, punishable by imprisonment in the county jail for a term not exceeding one year and a fine of not less than $100 or not more than $1,000, or a felony charge, punishable by imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a term not exceeding, three years and a fine not less than $1,000 or not more than $10,000. Upon conviction, the person may be ordered to pay for the services unlawfully received and suspended from participation in the program.

Pearl Basin District names new director

Davis succeeds Keith Harkins of Jackson who served in the post for five and one-half years before entering private business. Harkins will continue to serve the District through his recent appointment to the Board of Directors as a representative of Hinds county.

Davis has previously served as Special Projects Officer and Administrative Assistant before being named the Chief Executive Officer of the District. Davis is a Hattiesburg native and a graduate of the University of Southern Mississippi.

He is married to the former Marsha Mitchell of Biloxi. They have two sons and are members of Colonial Heights Baptist Church in Jackson.

The Pearl River Basin Development District is a special fund agency of the State of Mississippi engaged in programs of pollution abatement, recreation development, flood control and other programs of development. The thirty-eight member Board of Directors is composed of thirty members appointed by the Boards of Supervisors of the member counties, four members appointed from major State Agencies involved in water resource development and four others appointed by the governor in staggered terms.

St. Paul's Carnival Association stages 53rd Annual Ball

"Favorite Littles" the theme chosen by St. Paul's Carnival Association for its 1983 Ball was carried out in decorations around the stage and auditorium.

"Mary had a Little Lamb" and the "Ten Little Indians" carvoted on either side of the stage.

"The Three Little Pigs" gambled about the walls. The stage, on which the throne sat, featured a dark blue backdrop covered with stars.

Moss hung, snow-white branches were suspended by invisible wires all about the throne area.

The entrance to the stage itself was covered by a multi-colored canopy.

On either side of the stage area hung the flags of the Krewe of Christian, which are presented to each year's king and queen.

Ruling over the Ball was his majesty, King Christian the 53rd, Mr. Charles Bates, and Queen Christiana, Mrs. Linda Boudreaux Perkins.

Mr. Bates wore the Crown of Christian, which has been used by the Carnival Organization each year since it was donated to the association by Rex of 1915. He carried the matching scepter.

The King's costume was of gold and silver brocade, decorated heavily by pearls, beads and imported rhinestones.

The Queen, Mrs. Perkins, wore an especially designed gown of white georgette over crepe polyester.

The full flowing skirt featured an overlay front panel of sheer white organza with an overall geometric design in silver set with rhinestones and outlined with a narrow silver latticed braid. The empire waistline midriff of the silver organza and the sweetheart neckline sparkled with rhinestones and were edged with the silver lattice braid above a narrow ruffle of gleaming silver filigree lace taffing.

The short dropped Elizabethan puffed sleeves of the silver organza were enhanced with the silver braid and lace trim and studded with rhinestones.

To compliment her gown she wore a tiered silver and rhinestone necklace and long dropped earrings.

The royal pair was presented traditional gifts of silver wine coolers and their flags by the association.

Silver goblets were presented to the Grand Duke, Mr. Dennis Stahler, and to the Grand Duchesse, Mrs. Sandra Cox St. Pierre.

Also receiving silver goblets were the 1982 King and Queen, Mr. Karl Kern and Mrs. Mary Ann Fayard. Each member of the Royal Court was given necklaces which featured a golden doubloon as a keepsake.

Gifts were also presented by the association's president, Wayne James, to Mrs. Betty Bates, wife of the king; Mrs. Eunice Boudreaux, mother of the queen; Mrs. Sheila Stahler, wife of the grand duke, and Mrs. Dora Cox, grandmother of the grand duchess.

Mr. Billy McDonald was the master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Maids and dukes of the 1983 Court include Clint and Pat Bartman, Mitchell Bates and Ms. Donna Simmons, John and Carolyn Begue, Tim and Debbie Bishop, Leo Cox and Ms. Floy Saxon, Brad and Linda Frazier, Courtney and Kathy Hanson, Mike Langhart and Helen Simpson, Billy Laughlin and Jennie Moore, Benny and Renee Malley, Matt and Cathy Schultz, L. J. St. Pierre and Mrs. Sheila Stahler, Joseph and Ann Taylor, and Edward and Dotie Warner.

Pages to the king were Brent Moore, Jason Tucker, Tony Bond, and Heath Warner.

Maids to the queen were Angie Bishop, Barbara Ballanco, Courtney Taylor, and Annaris Bradley.

Davis addresses Blue Jeans club

The Blue Jean Garden Club meeting was held at the home of Mrs. S. J. Coogan, co-hosted by Mesdames W. V. Mains, R. A. Taconi, and G. Brechtel.

John Davis, coast area horticulturist, spoke on small trees and gardens.

Mr. and Mrs. William Howard Ginn of Waveland announce the birth of their second child and first daughter, Jessica Leigh, February 13, 1983 at St. Louis Memorial Hospital.

She weighed 9 pounds, 6 ounces. Mrs. Ginn is the former Cathy Bosley.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ginn of Bay St. Louis.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Bosley, also of Bay St. Louis.

Welcoming Jessica is her brother Bill II.

An engraved plaque will be presented to the winning team.

DAR organizing new Coast chapter

By JOE PILET

A new chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution is now in the formative stages.

Mrs. William Murphy, State Regent, recently conducted a workshop given in the home of Commander and Mrs. John C. Elkins of Parkwood Drive in Long Beach.

Mrs. Murphy said: "The Mississippi Society believes that another chapter is needed on the Gulf Coast."

Mmes. Maurice Khalmus and Erma Thornd of Meridian also assisted with the workshop and gave guidance in filling out required papers.

Mrs. Khalmus serves as state organizing secretary.

She told those in attendance that if they were members-at-large they should send a letter of intent to the National Membership Secretary in Washington.

Those who are newcomers to this area or others wishing to transfer to the local chapter should first write a letter to their chapter secretary requesting that their membership be transferred to member-at-large status.

Mrs. Khalmus said: We will surely cooperate in every way possible to get your new chapter off to a good start."

Prospective members from Diamondhead, Bay St. Louis, Long Beach and Gulfport were in attendance.

In a few cases those wishing help in establishing lineage connections were served.

To determine a name for the chapter Mrs. Murphy said the group should submit three names to headquarters and they in turn would pick a name for the chapter.

It was the expressed wish of the group that the name would identify with our geographical location and be of historical connotation.

"Some suggestions have been made," explained Mrs. Elkins, adding, "We will vote on names to submit when we meet again on March 31."

The meeting, an informal party scheduled for 2 p.m. at the Elkins' residence, 738 Parkwood Drive, Long Beach, will be attended by the state officers and other guests familiar with pre-organizational procedure.

Mrs. Elkins said anyone seeking further information may call her at 863-9756, a Long Beach number, or they may call a Bay St. Louis number, that of Mrs. Nunez (Joe) Pilet, 487-5551.

Following the workshop Mrs. Elkins hosted a beautiful luncheon. Tables throughout the reception rooms were overlaid with Army-Navy exquisitely embroidered cloths, and a profusion of carnations enhanced the setting.

Currently there is an active DAR chapter in Biloxi as well as one in Gulfport. It was felt that with our population growth extending to the west a number of daughters could more conveniently be served through an added chapter with a more centralized meeting place.

DAR property in Washington is composed of three buildings occupying an entire city block in the most beautiful section of our Nation's Capital.

Memorial Continental Hall, the original building, contains the DAR Library and 20 period state rooms.

The tower houses a carillon of 56 bells — consecrated to "the glory of God and the memory of our American Heroes."

Mississippi's DAR shrine, Rosalie, is a Natchez show place.

Norine Barnes discusses methods of saving money

By NORINE BARNES
Area Consumer
Management Specialist
Mississippi Cooperative
Extension Service

Money can be saved and invested in many ways. In a broad sense, an investment is any asset or property right held for the primary purpose of conserving wealth or earning an income.

A popular distinction is to consider fixed dollar investments as "savings." In fixed dollar investments, the initial amount of capital remains constant and earns interest or dividends, as with a savings account, certificate of deposit, or U.S. Government Savings Bond.

You might want to Consider: —Money Market Savings Accounts

Beginning last December, financial institutions were authorized to offer a money market account that has limited check writing and transfer privileges. Each institution will probably have a different name for its account.

The minimum deposit is no less than $250, but a financial institution could set the minimum at a higher level. Additional deposits can be added in any amount determined by the institution.

Interest is determined by the financial institution. There is no ceiling. It must change monthly but can change more often. If the account balance falls below $2,500, the highest interest paid cannot exceed 5% percent.

Withdrawals are unlimited to the depositor, but no more than six third-party withdrawals can be made per month of which no more than three can be checks. Withdrawals can be for any amount determined by the institution.

Money Market Savings accounts are insured by the federal government through Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation.

—Super NOW Accounts

Since January of this year, financial institutions can offer an account which has unlimited check writing, but has no ceiling on the interest paid. Once the early competition is over, these accounts will probably have a slightly lower interest rate than the money market accounts.

Minimum Deposit is no less than $2,500.

Interest will be determined by the financial institution. The rate must change monthly but change more often. If the account balance falls below $2,500, the interest rate paid can be no more than 5% percent.

Unlimited check writing or transfers are allowed.

Savings options you might want to consider from a broker include:

—Money Market Funds (Mutual Funds)

Investment Company Institute, 1775 K Street, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20006.

—Asset Management Accounts.

Competition for the customer's total financial business has intensified since the advent of the money market funds. Brokerage firms are using a complete money management

package giving the customer

one place for all financial transactions. They are using stock accounts tied together with a money market fund, a checking account, and a debit or charge card as a total asset management account. The initial investment requirements are usually between $10,000 and $25,000, in cash or securities.

It isn't necessary to own stocks or bonds. The account can be opened with a deposit

in a money market fund.

Checkwriting is for any amount, unlike other money market funds where checks must be written for at least $500. Loans against the securities can be made for up to half their value.

Some firms offer a debit card which taps into your fund

almost immediately while others offer a regular charge card. Traditional brokerage firms offer their standard array of reports and advice

while discount firms offer less services for discounts on commissions.

Savings Options you might want to consider through the federal government include:

—Treasury Bills

Treasury bills are U.S.

government bills from the Treasury Department that vary in maturity from three, six, and 12 months. Three and six month bills are sold weekly and 12 month bills once a month at an auction.

The minimum purchase is $10,000.

Interest is paid at redemption

when you receive face value and is reported on that year's income tax. At the time of purchase, the difference between the amount invested and the auction price is returned to you by check (discounting).

Purchase is made through a local bank or stockbroker with a fee of $25 of $30 or from any

Federal Reserve Bank by mail or in person. For further information on how to purchase, write to the following

ment, Bureau of Public

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

By Shawn Murphy

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

-John 10:10

I once read a story about Satan meeting with his evil spirits to plan his strategy against human beings. "Who will go to earth and persuade people to lose their souls?" he asked.

The first evil spirit said, "I will go, and I will tell them there is no heaven." A second spirit said, "I will go, and I will tell them there is no hell." Then, a third spirit responded, "I will go, and I will tell them there is no hurry." Satan told the third spirit, "Go immediately!"

Jesus, on the other hand, has taught us the urgency of accepting and following the kingdom. It has come; it is at hand; it is here. Jesus pressed the urgency of obedience. With history rapidly moving toward a final moment of judgment, there is no time to lose!

It is true. It really is later than you think. Satan is so incredibly sly. He knows that it is unreasonable to expect the majority of the world not to believe in God or even the realities of Heaven and Hell.

All he has to do is to keep convincing you that there is no hurry! "After all, I'm still fairly young, and I'm still in fairly good shape." "Maybe later after the kids are raised I'll get things right with God."

In order to stress the urgency, the actual emergency, of the coming of the Kingdom of God to a person's life, Jesus related this parable.

The Kingdom of Heaven will be like ten virgins who were going to meet the Bridegroom. Five of the bridesmaids took enough oil for their torches and no more. But the other five bridesmaids took enough oil for their torches and some in reserve. Not knowing exactly when the Bridegroom and his party would come, the ten bridesmaids waited. The evening wore on into the late hours. Since the Bridegroom's bargaining took longer than expected, the bridesmaids became very drowsy and fell asleep.

You see back in Jesus' day virgins traditionally served in marriage ceremonies. They would stay in a special room at a traveler's inn located near the gates of the city. There they would wait for the bridegroom and his bridal party to arrive for the wedding. The bridesmaids carried special torches, which were soaked in oil and handed down from wedding to wedding. Custom also said that the bridegroom and his party must arrive precisely at midnight.

Usually his arrival was announced by a member of his party blowing a trumpet or calling out from the walls of the city. The bridesmaids then lit their torches and accompanied the bridegroom to the home of the bride. Since a torch would burn only a few minutes, thoughtful preparation included taking plenty of oil in a small jar. After the arrival of the bridegroom, a special wedding banquet would take place; and all of those present and prepared for the wedding feast would be invited to attend. Those who procrastinated and arrived late for the wedding feast would be refused entry.

At midnight, they were awakened with the announcement: "Here's the Bridegroom! Come out to meet Him!" Then all the bridesmaids woke up and lit their torches. But five of the torches would no longer burn for there was not enough oil. So the five bridesmaids went off searching for oil for their torches. While they were gone, the Bridegroom arrived.

The five virgins who were ready went in with Him to the wedding banquet, after which the doors were closed. Later the other five bridesmaids arrived pleading, "Open the door for us!" But the Bridegroom replied, "I don't know you." And the door remained shut.

After Jesus finished, we can imagine him leaning forward, looking into the eyes of those around Him as He said, "Therefore keep watch, because you do not know the day or the hour." To those on the outer edge of commitment to Him, Jesus would stress, "See how critical it is for you to accept now the rule of God in your lives."

Jesus would continue to press the point: "The wedding day is here! The Bridegroom will arrive at any moment! Get ready for the wedding banquet!"

Science fiction convention slated March 4-6 in Biloxi

More than 1,000 fans will converge on the Gulf Coast the weekend of March 4-6 for this year's CoastCon, science-fiction, fantasy and gaming convention.

The three-day event will be held at the Royal d'Iberville Hotel on the Biloxi beach, and will include continuous movies and an art show. The game room will also be open 24 hours a day during the convention and will feature role-playing and board games plus games of micro-armor, Napoleonic and other miniature gaming events.

Jo Clayton, author of the Diadem series of science-fiction novels, will be the special guest of the convention, with Andrew Offutt as toastmaster. A special guest will be Jodie Offutt, co-author with Andrew of the Tiana High Rider trilogy.

Speakers during the convention will include Robert Adams, author of the Horseclans series of fantasy novels and Castaways in Time; George A. Effinger, author of The Wolves of Memory; Larry Brom, designer of the Sword and the Flame miniature gaming system, and Professor M.A.R. Barker, creator of The Empire of the Petal Throne fantasy role-playing system.

Guests and speakers of the convention will be on hand for a special get-acquainted party the evening of March 4 which will be followed the next night by a banquet and costume party and contest. A hospitality suite will be operated throughout the convention by its organizers and registration will be available for the entire event or individual days starting at noon on March 4.

CoastCon started out as the brainchild of Michael P. Bledsoe, who, as president of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Science Fiction and Fantasy Association in 1977, wanted to throw one big party for his friends. This marks the sixth straight year for CoastCon which has grown each year until now it ranks as one of the largest and most successful fan conventions in the nation.

The dealers' room this year will feature displays from some of the leading game and science-fiction suppliers in the country and a swap table will be set up for conventioners to trade books and other items with each other.

A series of panel discussions featuring the invited guests, plus local participants will be held. CoastCon has also been chosen as the site of the 1983 Pike and Shot Society national miniatures gaming tournament.

Among titles to be featured in the movie room during the convention will be such films as the cult classics Dark Star and Plan Nine From Outer Space and such vintage films from the 1930s as King Kong, Things to Come and the entire original Flash Gordon serial starring Buster Crabbe plus dozens of others. The video room will feature many more recent titles plus hard to find films and series.

Registration for this year's convention is $12.50. For more information on the 1983 CoastCon 83, write CoastCon 83, P. O. Box 1423, Biloxi, MS 39533.

CoastCon is a non-profit corporation organized for the sole purpose of presenting science-fiction, fantasy and gaming activities in the public interest.

Annunciation School schedules program on energy issues

"Energy Adventure," a fast-paced presentation describing current energy issues, will be staged at 10:45 a.m., Tuesday, in the Annunciation School auditorium, according to Sr. Margaret Theresa, SJB, principal.

Produced by Oak Ridge Association Universities, the program is presented by the University of New Orleans and is sponsored by Chevron USA and the Murphy Oil Corporation.

Focusing on an array of graphic and electronic teaching devices, "Energy Adventure" features a seesaw that demonstrates the principle of supply and demand, a wisecracking gasoline pump, and a hand pump to compare human energy with other energy forms. Audience members participate in most of the demonstrations. Ches Alpert of New Orleans, the teacher-demonstrator, uses these electronic teaching aids to put complex energy issues in a fresh and entertaining perspective.

He is a graduate of the University of Georgia with a degree in chemistry and has received extensive additional training from ORAU about the complexities of energy.

Chevron USA and the Murphy Oil Corporation have arranged with UNO/ORAU to have "Energy Adventure" visit a different school each school day. The demonstration—presented in an assembly—may be followed by special classroom sessions where teachers and students explore ideas about current energy concerns and the impact of science and technology on social issues.

ETV Brief

ROADS SERIES

"Legendary Mississippians" is the next program in the "Mississippi Roads" series on Mississippi ETV. The program can be seen at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, March 1, with a rebroadcast at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, March 6.

On the first segment "Mississippi Roads" visits the Elvis Presley Memorial in Tupelo. Guests are Frances Elmore, who works in the gift shop; Essie Clayton, a member of Presley's housekeeping staff; and Janelle McComb, chairman.

CHES ALPERT

The followup sessions are adapted to the size and grade level of both science and non-science classes. A demonstration/discussion session is also available for civic groups on request.

The "Energy Adventure" unit is one of 30 similar energy education units appearing daily at schools throughout the country. As part of an extensive mobile energy education program designed to foster a greater understanding of energy issues, "Energy Adventure" is modeled after other ORAU programs, "Energy Today and Tomorrow" and "Gas Works."

ORAU is a not-for-profit education and research consortium of 51 colleges and universities.

THE MORMONS

Waveland Ward
Church of Jesus Christ
of Latter-Day Saints

By PATTY BALDREE
Ward Information Officer
Cyrus Wilson of the High Council of the Gulfport Stake of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints addressed the membership of the Waveland Ward at that group's Feb. 13 regularly scheduled sacrament meeting.

"The Gospel Is Love" was the topic of his speech.

"God is a person with a physical body," Wilson said. "He has feelings and loves his children."

He quoted from Leviticus 19:18: "...thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself..." and added that forgiveness is essential to obeying this command.

"You are the only one who can affect your eternal salvation," Wilson explained. "What someone else says or does that may be offensive to you has nothing to do with it."

"If we love the Lord, which we should, and if we love our neighbor as ourselves, then it is up to us to give them the benefits of that great spirit and love that we have. Give them the gospel."

He then asked, "How much does our Heavenly Father love us?" In answer he quoted John 3:16, and added, "How many of us would be willing to put our children through what Heavenly Father put His son through? This shows how much He loves us!"

Wilson then bore his testimony to the fact that those who live the gospel to the fullest will receive the blessings that the Lord has in store for them.

"There is nothing wrong with stumbling and falling," he said, "as long as we fall forward and pick ourselves up and try again."

"The gospel is a gospel of love," he continued. "Our Heavenly Father will help us, pick us up, and love us; but he will not do everything for us. He loves us enough to let us grow by doing for ourselves."

In conclusion he urged, "Keep praying and calling upon the Lord and He will bless you with the strength to do the things necessary to get you through."

Wilson who is originally from Pensacola, Fla., has been a member of the Church for 8 years.

Since his baptism he has held numerous positions including: Elders Quorum President and Ward Mission Leader in New Orleans; and 1st Counselor to the Bishop in Chalmette.

Wilson presently serves as a member of the High Council of the Gulfport Stake.

He and his wife, Lois, and their two children, Mandy and Ian, now reside in Waveland.

Soybean farmers asking support from Congress

Saying farmers are tired of selling soybeans at "garage sale" prices, an American Soybean Association (ASA) official has asked Congress to implement an export payment-in-kind (PIK) program for soybeans.

Ralph Weems, a West Point, Miss., farmer and first vice president of the association, said the soybean PIK program would reduce soybean supplies and rebuild sagging farm income.

Weems made the request in outlining a five-point ASA emergency proposal earlier this month at a hearing before the production, marketing and stabilization subcommittee of the Senate agricultural committee.

"Farmers are tired of selling soybeans at garage sale prices," Weems said. "We understand and support the administration's decision not to include soybeans in the current PIK program."

"But, we believe the administration should offer soybean farmers a creative international export program that will help reduce supplies and rebuild soybean income," he added.

"The PIK program, announced by President Reagan in January, would pay cotton, corn, wheat, sorghum and rice farmers in surplus commodities in exchange for reducing acreage in 1983. Soybean growers are not eligible for the program."

Weems said the association commends the administration for implementing the current PIK program, adding that the program should restore profits to the affected crops.

"While soybeans have the smallest surplus of all major crops, we ask Congress and the administration to consider an export PIK program to reduce soybean supplies and improve farm income," Weems said.

The Clay County soybean farmer also responded to farmers' concerns that soybeans are not included in the current PIK program.

Weems said federal law prohibits a soybean PIK program, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture does not own enough soybean stocks to offer such a program.

"Current Commodity Credit Corporation-owned soybean stocks would limit a soybean crop swap to only one acre or 32 bushels of soybeans for each U.S. soybean farmer," Weems said.

Weems also said projected soybean carryover represents only 18 percent of the total estimated 1982-83 soybean usage, while projected carryover for other crops included in the PIK program is much higher.

Weems' five-point emergency proposal announced at the hearing included:

—an export program for soybean oil to improve sales in overseas markets. Using 14.2 million bushels of soybean stocks owned by the Commodity Credit Corporation, the USDA would repay soybean processors and soybean oil exporters for price reductions of soybean oil sales to foreign markets.

Weems said the association estimates the export program would result in soybean oil sales of 940,000 metric tons to overseas markets.

—expand Public Law 480 soybean oil allocations from the current 219,000 metric tons to a minimum of 300,000 metric tons in the future.

The law extends credit to foreign buyers of U.S. agricultural products who are not able to pay cash for the crops.

—require Public Law 480 recipient nations to buy more of their commercial imports from the United States. Nations currently receiving the assistance are buying 866,000 metric tons of vegetable oil from other countries, Weems said.

"The soybean believes the United States should require nations receiving this assistance to purchase U.S. products," Weems said.

—combine Public Law 480 loans with blended credit and loan guarantees to provide "mixed credit" programs to help the United States compete with Brazil and other soybean exporting countries.

Weems said a mixed credit program would reduce interest rates to soybean importing countries and increase U.S. competitiveness in world markets.

The New
Funk & Wagnalls
Illustrated Wildlife Encyclopedia is the most complete collection of wildlife information ever published in the English language.

A COMPLETE NATURE SET—
FROM A TO Z. This 24 volume hardcover collection explores the world of the wild, with little-known facts about creatures you only thought you knew—and some you've never heard of. Detailed background on all sorts of birds, beasts, insects, reptiles, fish, even domestic animals and pets. Information about endangered species and their quest for survival. Major sections on complete environmental regions—and how creatures live and die in the delicate balance. It's teeming with life-like photographs and color illustrations that almost breathe. It's a wild offer at a very tame price. Start your collection today.
